

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH

Monty Fakhouri, M.S.
Director of Public Health and Youth Services
Arab American and Chaldean Council (ACC)

Monty Fakhouri currently serves as the Director of Public Health and Youth Services at the Arab American and Chaldean Council (ACC). He is also an adjunct faculty member in the Health Sciences Graduate Program at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Mich., serves as a contingent, part time Minority Outreach Program Coordinator at Beaumont Hospital's Cancer Institute – Oncology Services.

Mr. Fakhouri holds Bachelors of Science degrees in Biology and Chemistry and a Master's of Science in Community Medicine (Public Health) from Wayne State University.

Mr. Fakhouri's has served as the Principle Investigator on the Cancer Communications Project and the Better Youth through Better Parents Project. He also served as Co-Investigator on the Hepatitis C in the Arab/Chaldean Community in Southeastern Michigan Project and the Assessment of the Perceived Susceptibility of Breast Cancer and Perceived Benefits of Breast Cancer Screening among Arab and Chaldean American Women in the Tri-County Area. He is a Certified Health Education Specialist and is the recipient of the Robert Wood Johnson 2006 Community Health Leadership Award.